

An Innovative Professional Services Solution, Delivered By Skilled, High Calibre Ex-Military Leaders

TRANSIST

Mentored Ex Military
Change Professionals

Flexible, Professional Programme Resource

TRANSIST meets your need for high quality professional resource in change and programme management, whilst enabling the transition of ex-forces leaders from military to civilian work, career and life.

Using resource from the contract and interim market place contains inherent risks associated with a transient workforce.....

- Non-consistent methodologies.
- High management cost. The organisation has to line manage contractors
- Lack of cohesion and consistency and around interim approaches and solutions
- Contractors under the perverse incentive to ensure the contract overruns

Our Solution

TRANSIST
Mentored Ex Military
Change Professionals

There is therefore a need for a flexible, professional change and project management resource which mitigates these risks....

- Providing consistent methodologies
- Quality assurance and management
- A desire to see quick results and offer solutions
- Ongoing professional development, mentoring and support ensures high quality delivery whilst removing the pressure from your line management

How do we achieve it?

We work with military organisations to access an untapped, yet tried and tested workforce to meet your need for high quality resource. We deliver an excellent, quality assured service by providing consultants supported by on-site mentoring and an on-going professional development programme. This also has the benefit of enabling them to experience a fast and effective transition from their military to civilian lives.

When could it benefit your organisation?

Whenever you have a need for temporary resource used to delivering to time, cost and quality parameters in unfamiliar circumstances. Directed by you and working in your way, supported by an established change management consultancy to take the pressure off your people.
